

Ioannis S. BETSAS

*Assistant Professor in History of Education
(Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece)*

I teach History of Modern Greek education and history of pedagogical ideas at the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki.

My research interests focus on History of Education, Elite Education, Educational Change and Educational Policy.

As a researcher, I have participated in various research projects in Greece and European Union, in scientific conferences as a speaker and member of organizing and scientific committee. I'm a member of Scientific Unions. I have written three books, and published scientific essays in Greek and English and papers in Greek and international conference proceedings.